

The student must submit the script in two parts:

- A typewritten hard copy and
- A scanned copy or screenshot of the original source with the introduction and added words attached in the appropriate places.

Typewritten version:

1. The typewritten hard copy should be typed exactly as it is going to be presented.
2. All added words must be underlined.

Scanned Copy version:

1. Photocopy every original source page which includes words used in the interpretive piece.
(The original source is the book, play, anthology, etc. from which the piece is taken.)
2. Photocopy the title page of the original source (or sources for Open Interpretation).
3. Photocopy the copyright page with the publication date of the original source (or sources for Open Interpretation).
4. Highlight all words that are used in the photocopied script. Do not cross out any words.
5. Type the introduction and any added words and attach them or write them in the appropriate spot in the photocopied script.
6. Arrange the photocopied pages in the order it will be presented.
7. Screenshots - Students who have secured their literary piece from an internet site must create a computer screenshot of the publication date. In addition, one page should include words from their piece to show where the piece came from. The screenshot should include any sidebars, headings, etc., that are a part of the computer screen. The remaining screenshots only need to contain the portions of the text used. The screenshots will be compiled in exactly the same way the photocopied pages are to be compiled. Title and publication information is still required.

Note - The goal is to submit two complete copies. One of them is typed. The other is scanned with the introduction and added words inserted, creating a second complete script. The scanned copy will read the same as the typed script.

If for some reason the competitor is unable to comply with the script submission requirements, or the competitor is missing some required element, a brief explanation should be attached to the Script Submission Form for consideration by tournament administration.
